WEB DEVELOPER

PROFESSIONAL BIO

I am a web developer from the Czech Republic. I moved to the US in 2013 and graduated with a Biochemistry degree in 2017. After school, I made a transition into web development. I work hard and I would love to put my skills to work for Tangoe, while learning new things and improving the old.

CAREER SUMMARY

Freelance web developer

November 2017 to present

Focallocal.org

Focallocal maps are an open source React/Meteor project aimed at connecting and organizing people to build projects that help improve the well-being of homeless people in the community. My task was to fix UI/UX issues (e.g. local persistence of form fields, creating external links, styling) as specified in the community board and project manager. #### Full-stack web development student at The Iron Yard, Indianapolis

July 2017 to October 2017

Studied front-end (HTML5, CSS3, JavaScript) and back-end (Node.js, Rails) fundamentals in an immersive 4 months course. Technologies used during the course included Git and GitHub for version control, PostgreSQL database system, and Heroku.

SCHOOLS ATTENDED

Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University

August 2015 - May 2017

Bachelor of Science, Biochemistry

For my junior and senior undergraduate research, I investigated molecular interactions of the principal toxic protein species in Alzheimer's disease and Type II Diabetes using GROMACS molecular dynamics simulations and PyMOL visualizations.
